

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An emissive plastic optical fiber using phase separation and a backlight unit for a liquid crystal display using the emissive plastic optical fiber. The emissive plastic optical fiber is fabricated by inducing phase separation in a polymer which forms a core and/or a clad, which can be applied to the backlight unit for a liquid crystal display.